

WELL-BEING, ECOLOGY, GENDER, COMMUNITY
INTERNATIONAL TRAINING NETWORK (WEGO-ITN) PRESENTS:

FEMINIST POLITICAL ECOLOGY DIALOGUES 2021

English with German and Indonesian translation

Rethinking Food at Passau University

1st & 2nd of July 2021

This event aims to share insights from research projects and engagements with alternative food and economic practices in Indonesia, India and Germany; with the hope to stimulate conversation about what constitutes 'alternative' agriculture or food consumption and why it matters.

Ideas and voices from ongoing field research will give a glimpse into the multitude of alternatives that are responding to unjust food systems, and challenging dominant modes of consumer and market-driven food production and consumption.

Through a critical FPE lens we aim to discuss the power dynamics within socio-ecological relations of food production and consumption, and how this shapes what constitutes an 'alternative practice', whilst also showcasing the knowledges of farmers and food activists.

Day 1

Thursday 01.07.2021, 4 -6 pm CEST

Careful Circularity for an Urban Food Commons?

Talk by Dr. Oona Morrow, Assistant Professor in Food Sociology at RSO at Wageningen University, The Netherlands

Hosted by the Passau Southeast Asian Research Colloquium and in collaboration with Sustainability Week at Passau University

Day 2

Friday, 02.07.2021, 4 - 6 pm CEST

Professor Martina Padmanabhan: What is WEGO and what is Feminist Political Ecology?

Dimas Laksmana & Patrick Keilbart: Organic agriculture as social practice: Perspectives from West and Central Java.

Siti Maimunah: Hungry Coal: Extractivism, Food Security and Energy Transition.

Enid Still: The politics of scale: Thoughts from encountering ethical agriculture practices in Tamil Nadu, India

Marlene Gómez Becerra: The Politics of Food in Urban Community Kitchens

Scan for Registration

This project has received funding from the European Union's Horizon 2020 research and innovation programme under the

WEGO | ITN